Comment	<ul style="list-style-type: none">- Glass folding doors which are on the side of extension facing my garden and property will be an invasion of my privacy.- The length of extension running half way down the garden and also being risen above usual ground level, overlooking my garden is also an issue.- Loss of view from property towards nature reserve.- Single side door to the house will also be an invasion of privacy being so close to the boundary fence.- Extension building with peaked roof and skylight windows will cut sunlight coming around from the side to my property with its high protruding peak, especially low winter sun/sunrise.- Not in keeping with standard design of houses which are not overlooked by houses/buildings etc.
